APPENDIX 1 - RELATED LEGISLATION AND KEY DOCUMENTS:

- Keeping Children Safe in Education \(DfE: 2025\)
- Children Act 1989 (and 2004 update): The Children Act 1989 gives every child the right to protection from abuse and exploitation and the right to have enquires made to safeguard his or her welfare. The Act place duties on several agencies, including schools, to assist Social Services departments acting on behalf of children and young people in need (s17) or enquiring into allegations of child abuse (s47).
- Education Act 2002 - This requires schools to make arrangements to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and to have regard to guidance issued by the Secretary of State for Education.
- Sexual Offences Act 2003 - This act sets out an offence of 'abuse of trust' - a sexual or otherwise inappropriate relationship between an adult who is responsible for young people and a young person in his/her care.
- Information Sharing – Department for Education (DfE) Advice for practitioners providing safeguarding services to children, young people, parents and carers 2024 This advice is for all frontline practitioners and senior managers working with children, young people, parents and carers who have to make decisions about sharing personal information on a case by case basis.
- Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015 (the CTSA 2015), section 26 requires all schools, in the exercise of their functions, to have “due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism”. This duty is known as the Prevent duty.
- Mental health and behaviour in schools (2018) advice to help schools to support pupils whose mental health problems manifest themselves in behaviour. It is also intended to be helpful to staff in alternative provision settings, although some of the legislation mentioned will only apply to those alternative provision settings that are legally classified as schools.
- The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act (2006) Section 53(3) and (4) of this applies to schools if they broker student accommodation with host families for which the host family receives a payment from a third party, such as a language school. At a future date, the regulated activity provider will have a duty to carry out a barred list check on any new carer – section 34ZA Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006.
- The Teachers’ Standards (2013) set a clear baseline of expectations for the professional practice and conduct of teachers and define the minimum level of practice expected of teachers in England.
- Children Missing Education (2025) Statutory guidance for local authorities and advice for other groups on helping children who are missing education get back into it.

APPENDIX 2 - Allegations and concerns against adults in education settings – July 2025 (including schools, early years and alternative provision settings)

This flowchart is intended for use as a brief guide. Refer to the Wiltshire SVPP 'Multi-Agency Threshold guidance' and the DfE Guidance 'What to do if you are worried a child is being abused' for more information, definitions and possible indicators of abuse.

APPENDIX 4 – WHAT IS ABUSE INCLUDING POSSIBLE INDICATORS

Types of Abuse and Neglect Including Specific Safeguarding Issues: We are aware that abuse, neglect and safeguarding issue are rarely standalone events that can be covered by one definition or label. In most cases, multiple issues will overlap with one another Abuse may take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Issues could include:

Drug/alcohol abuse, Abuse of trust, Pupil exploitation and online safety, Fabricated or induced Illness, Faith abuse, Disability and vulnerability, Bullying including cyberbullying; Vulnerable pupils; Child missing from home or care; Missing children and adults strategy; Young carers, Gender-based violence/violence against women and girls (VAWG), Hate.

Expert and professional organisations are best placed to provide up-to-date guidance and practical support on specific safeguarding issues. For example, NSPCC offers information for schools and Schools on the TES website and also on its own website www.nspcc.org.uk/preventing-abuse/. The following definitions are taken from Working Together to Safeguard Children HM Government (2026):

ABUSE AND NEGLECT: Abuse and neglect are forms of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting, by those known to them or, more rarely, by a stranger. They may be abused by an adult or adults, or another child or children. Our staff are aware of the indicators of abuse, neglect and exploitation (as seen below), understanding that children can be at risk of harm inside and outside of our school, inside and outside of home, and online. Exercising professional curiosity and knowing what to look for is vital for the early identification of abuse and neglect so that staff are able to identify cases of children who may be in need of help or protection.

All staff at Appleford School are aware that abuse, neglect, exploitation, and safeguarding issues are rarely standalone events and cannot be covered by one definition or one label alone. In most cases, multiple issues will overlap.

Staff, but especially the DSL/ DDSL considers whether children are at risk of abuse or exploitation in situations outside their families. Extra familial harms take a variety of different forms and children can be vulnerable to multiple harms including (but not limited to) sexual abuse (including harassment and exploitation), domestic abuse in their own intimate relationships (teenage relationship abuse), criminal exploitation, serious youth violence, county lines and radicalisation.

Furthermore, our staff are aware that technology is a significant component in many safeguarding and wellbeing issues. Our students are at risk of abuse and other risks online as well as face to face. In many cases abuse and other risks will take place concurrently both online and offline. Children can also abuse other children online, this can take the form of abusive, harassing, and misogynistic/misandrist messages, the non-consensual sharing of indecent images, especially around chat groups, and the sharing of abusive images and pornography to those who do not want to receive such content. In all cases, where our staff are unsure, they will speak to the DSL/ DDSL.

Our school recognises that safeguarding issues are rarely covered with one definition or label. In most cases multiple issues will overlap with one another. Expert organisations provide guidance and practical support on specific safeguarding issues.

Indicators of abuse and neglect -abuse: Following the definition of abuse provided above, Harm can include ill treatment that is not physical as well as the impact of witnessing ill treatment of others. This can be particularly relevant, for example, in relation to the impact on children of all forms of domestic abuse, including where they see, hear or experience its effects. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Children may be abused by an adult or adults or by another child or children.

Physical abuse: A form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child. If a body map is to be used to record physical abuse, they should only be used to record observed injuries and no child should be asked to remove clothing by a member of staff of the school.

Indicators of physical abuse/ factors that should increase concern include:

- multiple bruising or bruises and scratches/bi-lateral injuries (especially on the head and face including around the mouth); clusters of bruises – e.g. fingertip bruising (caused by being grasped); bruises around the neck and behind the ears – the most common abusive injuries are to the head;

Appleford School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. It is our aim that all students fulfil their potential.

- marks indicating injury by an instrument – e.g. linear bruising (stick), parallel bruising (belt), marks of a buckle;
- bite marks; deliberate burning may also be indicated by the pattern of an instrument or object - e.g. electric fire, cooker, cigarette; scalds with upward splash marks or tide marks; untreated injuries; injuries to genital areas;
- recurrent injuries, burns or bald patches; having broken bones or unexplained bruising, burns or welts in different stages of healing; being unable to explain an injury, or providing explanations that are inconsistent, vague or unbelievable.
- If a child has an injury to which they cannot explain, where the parent or child is apparently secretive or evasive or if the explanation does not appear to match the injury.

Staff should be concerned if the child or young person:

- is reluctant to have parents/carers contacted, runs away or shows fear of going home or is aggressive towards themselves or others;
- flinches when approached or touched; is reluctant to undress to change clothing for sport or wears long sleeves during hot weather;
- is unnaturally compliant in the presence of parents/carers; has a fear of medical help or attention or admits to a punishment that appears excessive.

Emotional abuse: Defined as the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child's developmental capability as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning or preventing the child from participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyberbullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, although it may occur alone. Staff are provided with guidance regarding cyberbullying.

Indicators of Emotional Abuse: Developmental issues include delays in physical, mental and emotional development; poor school performance and speech disorders, particularly sudden disorders or changes.

Behaviour: Acceptance of punishment which appears excessive; over-reaction to mistakes; continual self-deprecation (I'm stupid, ugly, worthless etc); neurotic behaviour (such as ricking, hair-twisting, thumb sucking); self-mutilation; suicide attempts; drug/solvent abuse; running away; compulsive stealing, scavenging; acting out; poor trust in significant adults; regressive behaviour – e.g. wetting; eating disorders; destructive tendencies; neurotic behaviour; arriving early at school, leaving late.

The nature of emotional abuse: Most harm is produced in low warmth, high criticism homes, not from single incidents. Emotional abuse is chronic and cumulative and has a long-term impact. All kinds of abuse and neglect have emotional effects although emotional abuse can occur by itself. Witnessing someone harming another person – as in domestic violence, can harm children. It is sometimes possible to spot emotionally abusive behaviour from parents and carers to their children, by the way that the adults are speaking to, or behaving towards children. An appropriate challenge or intervention could affect positive change and prevent more intensive work being carried out later on.

Social issues: Withdrawal from physical contact or from social interaction; over-compliant behaviour or insecure, clinging behaviour; poor social relationships.

Emotional responses: Extreme fear of new situations; inappropriate emotional responses to painful situations ("I deserve this"); fear of parents being contacted; self-disgust; unusually fearful with adults; lack of concentration, restlessness, aimlessness; extremes of passivity or aggression; excessive need for approval, attention and affection.

NEGLECT: Defined as the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy, for example, as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to: provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment); protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger; ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate caregivers); or ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs. Far more children are registered to the category of neglect on child protection plans than to the other categories. Neglect is a difficult form of abuse to recognise and is often seen as less serious than other categories. It is, however, very damaging: children who are neglected often develop more slowly than others and may find it hard to make friends and fit in with their peer group. Neglect is often noticed at a stage when it does not pose a risk to the child. The duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children would suggest that an appropriate intervention or conversation at this early stage can address the issue and prevent a child continuing to suffer until it reaches a point when they are at risk of harm or in significant need. Neglect is often linked to other forms of abuse, so any concerns school staff have should at least be discussed with the DSL.

Indicators of neglect: The following is a summary of some of the indicators that may suggest a child is being abused or is at risk of harm. It is important to recognise that indicators alone cannot confirm whether a child is being abused. Each child should be seen in the context of their family and wider community and a proper assessment carried out by appropriate persons. What is important to keep in mind is that if you feel unsure or concerned, do something about it. Don't keep it to yourself.

Physical indicators of neglect include: Constant hunger and stealing food; poor personal (including dental) hygiene – unkempt, dirty or smelly; being underweight; wearing dress unsuitable for weather; poor state of clothing; illness or injury untreated and looking sad, false smiles.

Behavioural indicators of neglect include: Constant tiredness; frequent absence from school or lateness; or arriving early at school/leaving late; missing medical appointments; becoming isolated among peers; being frequently unsupervised; stealing or scavenging, especially food and having destructive tendencies, poor relationships with peers; running away.

SEXUAL ABUSE: Involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse. Sexual abuse can take place online, and technology can be used to facilitate offline abuse. Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children. All staff at Appleford School are aware that sexual abuse of children by other children is a specific safeguarding issue in education and are aware of our policy and procedures for dealing with it. Where it comes to our notice that a pupil under the age of 13 is, or may be, sexually active, this will result in an immediate referral to Children's Services and advice being given to the DSL. This will determine how and when information will be shared with parents/guardians/carers and the investigating agencies.

Indicators of sexual abuse: Physical observations include damage to genitalia, anus or mouth; sexually transmitted infections (STIs); unexpected pregnancy, especially in very young girls; soreness in genital area, anus or mouth and other medical problems such as chronic itching; unexplained recurrent urinary tract infections and discharges or abdominal pain. The concerns listed are not exhaustive. Staff can and should also record and report other concerns about a child, such as general welfare concerns.

Behaviour indicators: Behavioural observations

Sexual knowledge, behaviour or affection inappropriate for age; sexually provocative behaviour/promiscuity; hinting at sexual activity; inexplicable decline in school performance; depression or other sudden apparent changes in personality as becoming insecure or clinging; lack of concentration, restlessness, aimlessness; socially isolated or withdrawn; overly-compliant behaviour; acting out, aggressive behaviour; poor trust or fear concerning significant adults; regressive behaviour; onset of wetting, by day or night; nightmares; onset of insecure, clinging behaviour; arriving early at school, leaving late, running away from home; suicide attempts, self-mutilation, self-disgust; suddenly drawing sexually explicit pictures; eating disorders or sudden loss of appetite or compulsive eating; regressing to younger behaviour patterns such as thumb sucking or bringing out discarded cuddly toys; become worried about clothing being removed; trying to be 'ultra-good' or perfect; overreacting to criticism.

High risk and emerging safeguarding issues

All of our staff at Appleford School are aware of the safeguarding issues that can put children at risk of harm. Behaviours linked to issues such as drug taking and/or alcohol misuse, unexplainable and/or persistent absences from education, serious violence (including that linked to county lines), radicalisation and consensual and non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and/or videos can be signs that children are at risk. Detailed below are some safeguarding issues all of our staff are aware of:

CHILD CRIMINAL EXPLOITATION (CCE) AND CHILD SEXUAL EXPLOITATION (CSE): Both CCE and CSE are forms of abuse that occur where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance in power to coerce, manipulate or deceive a child into taking part in criminal or sexual activity. It may involve an exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or for the financial advantage or increased status of the perpetrator or facilitator and/or through violence or the threat of violence. CCE and CSE can affect children, both male and female and can include children who have been moved (commonly referred to as trafficking) for the purpose of exploitation. Our School recognises that that different forms of harm often overlap, and that perpetrators may subject children and young people to multiple forms of abuse, including both CCE and CSE.

Child Criminal Exploitation: Some specific forms of CCE can include children being forced or manipulated into transporting drugs or money through county lines, working in cannabis factories, shoplifting or pickpocketing. They can also be forced or manipulated into committing vehicle crime or threatening/committing serious violence to others.

Children can become trapped by this type of exploitation, as perpetrators can threaten victims (and their families) with violence or entrap and coerce them into debt. They may be coerced into carrying weapons such as knives or begin to carry a knife for a sense of protection from harm from others. As children involved in criminal exploitation often commit crimes themselves, their vulnerability as victims is not always recognised by adults and professionals, (particularly older children), and they are not treated as victims despite the harm they have experienced. They may still have been criminally exploited even if the activity appears to be something they have agreed or consented to. In some cases, the exploitation or abuse will be in exchange for something the victim needs or wants (for example, money, gifts or affection), and/or will be to the financial benefit or other advantage, such as increased status, of the perpetrator or facilitator. Children can be exploited by adult males or females, as individuals or in groups. They may also be exploited by other children, who themselves may be experiencing exploitation – where this is the case, it is important that the child perpetrator is also recognised as a victim.

It is important to note that the experience of girls who are criminally exploited can be very different to that of boys. The indicators may not be the same, however professionals should be aware that girls are at risk of criminal exploitation too. It is also important to note that both boys and girls being criminally exploited may be at higher risk of sexual exploitation. Our staff are also aware that along with the age of the child possibly being a contributing factor for an imbalance of power, there are a range of other factors that could make a child more vulnerable to exploitation, including sexual identity, cognitive ability, learning difficulties, communication ability, physical strength, status, and access to economic or other resources.

Child criminal exploitation – County Lines: County lines is a term used to describe gangs and criminal networks involved in trafficking illegal drugs using dedicated mobile phone lines or other form of “deal line”. This activity can happen locally as or across UK - no specified distance of travel is required. Children and vulnerable adults are exploited to move, store and sell drugs and money. Offenders often use coercion, intimidation, violence (including sexual violence) and weapons to ensure compliance of victims.

Children can be targeted and recruited into county lines in a number of locations including schools (mainstream and special), further and higher educational institutions, pupil referral units, children’s homes and care homes. Our staff recognise that children are also increasingly being targeted and recruited online using social media. Children can easily become trapped by this type of exploitation as county lines gangs can manufacture drug debts which need to be worked off or threaten serious violence and kidnap towards victims (and their families) if they attempt to leave the county lines network. A number of the indicators for CSE and CCE as detailed above may be applicable to where children are involved in county lines. Some additional specific indicators that may be present where a child is criminally exploited through involvement in county lines are children who:

- go missing and are subsequently found in areas away from their home;
- have been the victim or perpetrator of serious violence (e.g. knife crime);
- are involved in receiving requests for drugs via a phone line, moving drugs, handing over and collecting money for drugs;
- are exposed to techniques such as ‘plugging’, where drugs are concealed internally to avoid detection;
- are found in accommodation that they have no connection with, often called a ‘trap house or cuckooing’ or hotel room where there is drug activity;
- owe a ‘debt bond’ to their exploiters; have their bank accounts used to facilitate drug dealing.

The school has access to guidance published by the Home Office: County Lines Toolkit For Professionals

CHILD SEXUAL EXPLOITATION (CSE): CSE is a form of child sexual abuse. It occurs where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance of power to coerce, manipulate or deceive a child or young person under the age of 18 into sexual activity (a) in exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or (b) for the financial advantage or increased status of the perpetrator or facilitator.

Appleford School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. It is our aim that all students fulfil their potential.

The victim may have been sexually exploited even if the sexual activity appears consensual. Sexual abuse may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing, and touching outside clothing. It may include non-contact activities, such as involving children in the production of sexual images, forcing children to look at sexual images or watch sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways or grooming a child in preparation for abuse including via the internet. CSE can occur over time or be a one-off occurrence and may happen without the child's immediate knowledge for example through others sharing videos or images of them on social media.

CSE can affect any child who has been coerced into engaging in sexual activities. This includes 16- and 17-year-olds who can legally consent to have sex. Some children do not realise they are being exploited and may believe they are in a genuine romantic relationship. For this reason, an indicator that may be present in CSE are children who have older boyfriends or girlfriends. Other indicators of CSE include children who suffer from STIs, display sexual behaviours beyond expected sexual development or become pregnant. Further information on signs of a child's involvement in sexual exploitation is available in Home Office guidance: Child sexual exploitation: guide for practitioners

Characteristics of Child Sexual Exploitation and abuse: It is often planned and systematic – people do not sexually abuse children by accident, though sexual abuse can be opportunistic; grooming the child – people who abuse children take care to choose a vulnerable child and often spend time making them dependent; grooming the child's environment – abusers try to ensure that potential adult protectors (parents and other carers especially) are not suspicious of their motives.

CHILD-ON-CHILD ABUSE: Abuse that occurs between children, and may happen inside or outside our school, or online. At Appleford School, all of our staff are aware that this is an important safeguarding issue and are aware of our policy on child on child abuse along with the role they have in preventing it. We follow KCSIE (2025) and WtTSC guidelines with regards to child-on-child abuse. Our staff understand that even if there are no reports of child-on-child abuse within the school, that does not mean it is not happening as it could be the case that abuse is not being reported. Therefore if our staff have any concerns regarding child-on-child abuse, they will speak to their DSL/ DDSL.

Our staff understand the importance of challenging inappropriate behaviour between children that is abusive in nature examples of which are listed below. Downplaying certain behaviour, for example dismissing sexual harassment as 'just banter' or 'boys being boys' can lead to a culture of unacceptable behaviour, an unsafe environment for children and in worst case scenarios worst case scenarios a culture that normalises abuse leading to children accepting it as normal and not coming forward to report it.

Child-on-child abuse is most likely to include, but may not be limited to:

- abuse in intimate personal relationships between children (sometimes known as 'teenage relationship abuse')
- physical abuse such as hitting, kicking, shaking, biting, hair pulling, or otherwise causing physical harm (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages physical abuse)
- sexual violence such as rape, assault by penetration and sexual assault; (this may include an online element which facilitates, threatens and/or encourages sexual violence)
- sexual harassment such as sexual comments, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment, which may be standalone or part of a broader pattern of abuse
- causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent, such as forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party
- consensual and non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and/or videos¹¹ (also known as sexting or youth produced sexual imagery)
- upskirting - is where someone takes a picture under a person's clothing (not necessarily a skirt) without their permission and or knowledge, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks (with or without underwear) to obtain sexual gratification, or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm. It is a criminal offence. Anyone of any gender, can be a victim.
- initiation/hazing type violence and rituals (this could include activities involving harassment, abuse or humiliation used as a way of initiating a person into a group and may also include an online element).
- bullying - Please also refer to our anti-bullying policy which sets out our procedures in order to prevent bullying and to deal with it if and when it occurs within the school. This may be defined as deliberate, repeated (systematic) aggressive verbal, psychological or physical conduct by an individual or group against another person or persons.

Very often bullying is the act of oppressing or dominating by threat or force where the aggressor may persecute or tease in order to frighten into action or inaction. Bullying can include:

Appleford School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. It is our aim that all students fulfil their potential.

- Physical: pushing, hitting, kicking, pinching etc;
- Verbal: name-calling, spreading rumours, constant teasing and sarcasm;
- Emotional: tormenting, ridiculing, humiliating, ignoring;
- Racial: taunts, graffiti and gestures; Religious / cultural;
- Sexual, sexist or homophobic: unwanted physical contact or abusive comments;
- Cyber-bullying: through social networking websites, mobile phones and text messages, photographs and email.

Signs that may indicate bullying include behavioural changes such as reduced concentration, becoming withdrawn, depressed, tearful, emotionally up and down, reluctance to go to school etc.; a marked drop off in performance; Physical signs e.g. stomach aches, headaches, sleeping difficulties, bingeing on food, cigarettes or alcohol and a money shortage or frequent loss of possessions.

DOMESTIC ABUSE: The Home Office define domestic abuse as: “Any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive or threatening behaviour, violence and abuse between those aged 16 or over, who are or have been intimate partners or family members regardless of gender and sexuality”.

Staff understand that domestic abuse is any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive, threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are, or have been, intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality. The abuse can encompass but is not limited to: psychological; physical; sexual; financial; and emotional harm.

The DSL liaises with partner agencies as part of ‘Encompass’ in Wiltshire. When police are called to an incident of domestic abuse, where there are children in the household who have experienced the domestic incident, the DSL ensures the organisation receives up to date relevant information about the child’s circumstances and will ensure key staff provide emotional and practical support to the child according to their needs.

Children may suffer both directly and indirectly if they live in households where there is domestic violence. Exposure to domestic abuse and/or violence can have a serious, long lasting emotional and psychological impact on children, affecting their ability to learn. It will often be appropriate for such children to be regarded as Children in Need under the Children Act 1989. In some cases, a child may blame themselves for the abuse or may have had to leave the family home as a result. Domestic abuse affecting young people can also occur within their personal relationships, as well as in the context of their home life. Where there is evidence of domestic violence, we will report our concerns to the appropriate agency including children’s social care and the police in order to prevent the likelihood of any further abuse taking place. Advice on identifying children who are affected by domestic abuse and how they can be helped is available at:

NSPCC- UK domestic-abuse Signs Symptoms Effects

Safelives - young people and domestic abuse

Domestic Abuse Act 2021: Statutory Guidance

We have close links with the Wiltshire Police force, through Operation Encompass, who liaise with the School on matters of domestic violence, also providing advice for staff who may be concerned about children who have experienced domestic abuse. The helpline is available 8AM to 1PM, Monday to Friday on 0204 513 9990

FEMALE GENITAL MUTILATION (FGM): Our staff are aware they should speak to the DSL/ DDSL with regard to any concerns about female genital mutilation (FGM), and that there is a specific legal duty on them to do so. They are also aware that if, in the course of their work in the profession, discovers that an act of FGM appears to have been carried out on a girl under the age of 18, they must report this to the police.

VIRGINITY TESTING AND HYMENOPLASTY: Staff should be aware that virginity testing and hymenoplasty became illegal in 2022 and that it is a criminal offence for anyone to perform or assist in the performance of FGM, virginity testing or hymenoplasty, in the UK or abroad, or to fail to protect a person under 16 for whom they are responsible. For cases where it is believed that a girl may be vulnerable to virginity testing or hymenoplasty, the staff will inform the DSL who will report it as with any other child protection concern. Virginity testing is any examination (with or without contact) of the female genitalia intended to establish if vaginal intercourse has taken place. This is irrespective of whether consent has been given. Hymenoplasty is a procedure undertaken to reconstruct a hymen. The aim of the procedure is to ensure that a woman bleeds the next time she has intercourse to give the impression that she has no history of vaginal intercourse.

MENTAL HEALTH: At Appleford School, our staff are aware that mental health problems can, in some cases, be an indicator that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation. Although only appropriately trained professionals should attempt to make a diagnosis of a mental health problem, our education staff are well placed to observe children day-to-day and identify those whose behaviour suggests that they may be experiencing a mental health problem or be at risk of developing one. If needed, Appleford School is well placed to deal with Mental Health issues by working with the relevant external agencies.

SELF-HARM AND SUICIDAL BEHAVIOUR: Self-harm can be deliberate with the aim of a child just causing themselves an injury, attempted suicide which does not result in end of life or a successful attempt to end life resulting in death. Majority of self-harmers keep it a secret that goes undiscovered, finding it is the only way to express their feelings. Children self-harm for many reasons including: being bullied both at school or online, mental health issues, eating disorders, domestic abuse, any type of child abuse, parental conflict and bereavement. The signs of the distress the child may be under can take many forms and can include:

- cutting behaviours and self-poisoning, other forms of self-harm, such as burning, scalding, banging, hair pulling; not looking after their needs properly emotionally or physically;
- direct injury such as scratching, cutting, burning, hitting yourself, swallowing or putting things inside;
- staying in an abusive relationship, taking risks too easily, eating distress (anorexia and bulimia);
- addiction for example, to alcohol or drugs and low self-esteem and expressions of hopelessness.

During a disclosure of self-harm staff should check whether the pupil has ingested anything or has anything on their person that could cause damage or harm. Any concerns from staff members should be referred to the DSL, as an early help assessment may need to be completed to involve services that can help, or in the case of significant harm a referral can be made to Children's Services.

SERIOUS VIOLENCE: Our staff are aware of the indicators, which may signal children are at risk from, or are involved with, serious violent crime. These may include increased absence from school or School, a change in friendships or relationships with older individuals or groups, a significant decline in educational performance, signs of self-harm or a significant change in wellbeing, or signs of assault or unexplained injuries. Unexplained gifts or new possessions could also indicate that children have been approached by, or are involved with, individuals associated with criminal networks or gangs and may be at risk of criminal exploitation.

CHILDREN IN NEED: A child in need is defined under the Children Act 1989 as a child who is unlikely to achieve or maintain a reasonable level of health or development, or whose health and development is likely to be significantly or further impaired, without the provision of services; or a child who is disabled. Local authorities are required to provide services for children in need for the purposes of safeguarding and promoting their welfare. Children in need may be assessed under section 17 of the Children Act 1989.

Children suffering or likely to suffer significant harm: Local authorities, with the help of other organisations as appropriate, have a duty to make enquiries under section 47 of the Children Act 1989 if they have reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm. Such enquiries enable them to decide whether they should take any action to safeguard and promote the child's welfare and must be initiated where there are concerns about maltreatment. This includes all forms of abuse, neglect and exploitation.

Local Authorities, within 1 working day of a referral being made, should acknowledge its receipt to the referrer and make a decision about the next steps and the type of response that is required. This will include determining whether:

- the child requires immediate protection and urgent action is required;
- any services are required by the child and family and what type of services;
- the child is in need and should be assessed under section 17 of the Children Act 1989, details for which are provided in Working Together to Safeguard Children.
- there is reasonable cause to suspect the child is suffering or likely to suffer significant harm, and whether enquiries must be made, and the child assessed under section 47 of the Children Act 1989. Working Together to Safeguard Children provides details of the assessment process, and
- further specialist assessments are required to help the local authority to decide what further action to take.

If this information is not forthcoming, the referrer should up the referral.

If social workers decide to carry out a statutory assessment, our staff are aware that they should do everything they can to support the assessment (supported by the DSL/ DDSL as required).

Children who are absent from education: Children being absent from education for prolonged periods and/or on repeat occasions can act as a vital warning sign to a range of safeguarding issues including neglect, child sexual and child criminal exploitation - particularly county lines. At Appleford School, our response to persistently absent pupils and children missing education supports identifying such abuse, and in the case of absent pupils helps prevent the risk of them becoming a child missing education in the future. This includes when problems are first emerging but also where children are already known to local authority children's social care and need a social worker (such as a child who is a child in need or who has a child protection plan, or is a looked after child), where being absent from education may increase known safeguarding risks within the family or in the community.

LOOKED AFTER CHILDREN AND PREVIOUSLY LOOKED AFTER CHILDREN: The most common reason for children becoming looked after is as a result of abuse and/or neglect. The school ensures that staff have the necessary skills and understanding to keep looked after children safe. Appropriate staff have information about a child's looked after legal status and care arrangements, including the level of authority delegated to the carer by the authority looking after the child and contact arrangements with birth parents or those with parental responsibility. The designated teacher and Member of the Advisory Board for children looked after will have the appropriate level training to equip them with the knowledge and skills to undertake their role. The designated teacher for children looked after and the DSL have details of the child's social worker and the name and contact details of the Wiltshire Head of Virtual School.

A previously looked after child potentially remains vulnerable and the school ensures that all staff have the skills, knowledge and understanding to keep previously looked after children safe. Our staff are aware that when dealing with looked after children and previously looked after children, it is important that all agencies work together and prompt action is taken when necessary to safeguard these children, who are a particularly vulnerable group.

This policy therefore covers all pupils at the school, including those who may be here temporarily on exchange visits. The school recognises the particular vulnerabilities of children living in a different country/culture, with possible language barriers and no family close by and provides relevant support where necessary.

CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL EDUCATION NEEDS, DISABILITIES OF HEALTH ISSUES: Children with special educational needs or disabilities (SEND) or certain medical or physical health conditions can face additional safeguarding challenges both online and offline. Our school's child protection policy reflects the fact that additional barriers can exist when recognising abuse, neglect and exploitation in this group of children. These can include:

- assumptions that indicators of possible abuse such as behaviour, mood and injury relate to the child's condition without further exploration
- these children being more prone to peer group isolation or bullying (including prejudice-based bullying) than other children
- the potential for children with SEND or certain medical conditions being disproportionately impacted by behaviours such as bullying, without outwardly showing any signs
- communication barriers and difficulties in managing or reporting these challenges
- cognitive understanding – being unable to understand the difference between fact and fiction in online content and then repeating the content/behaviours in schools or Schools or the consequences of doing so.

PRIVATE FOSTERING: A private fostering arrangement occurs when someone other than a parent or close relative cares for a child for a period of 28 days or more, with the agreement of the child's parents. It applies to children under the age of 16 or 18 if the child is disabled. Children looked after by the local authority or who are placed in residential schools, children's homes or hospitals are not considered to be privately fostered. Private fostering occurs in all cultures, including British culture and children may be privately fostered at any age. Appleford School recognises that most privately fostered children remain safe and well but are aware that safeguarding concerns have been raised in some cases. Therefore, all staff are alert to possible safeguarding issues, including the possibility that the child has been trafficked into the country. By law, a parent, private foster carer or other persons involved in making a private fostering arrangement must notify children's services as soon as possible. However, where a member of staff becomes aware that a pupil may be in a private fostering arrangement they will raise this with the DSL and the DSL will notify Wiltshire Safeguarding Vulnerable People Partnership of the circumstances.

Children who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, or transgender (LGBT): Whilst we recognise that being LGBT does not inherently increase the risk of harm to children, those who are LGBT can be targeted by other children. In some cases, a child who is perceived by other children to be LGBT (whether they are or not) can be just as vulnerable as children who identify as LGBT. The school endeavours to reduce the additional barriers faced for these pupils and we will provide a safe space for them to speak out or share their concerns with a trusted member staff as required. When supporting a gender questioning child, the school takes a cautious approach and considers the broad range of their individual needs, in partnership with the child's parents, including any clinical advice that is available and how to address wider vulnerabilities such as the risk of bullying. We build LGBT inclusion into part of our Relationships Education, Relationship and Sex Education and Health Education curriculum, including how to counter homophobic, biphobic and transphobic bullying and abuse.

CHILD-ON-CHILD SEXUAL VIOLENCE AND SEXUAL HARASSMENT: Sexual violence and sexual harassment can occur between two or more children of any age and sex. It can occur also through a group of children sexually assaulting or sexually harassing a single child or group of children. Sexual violence and sexual harassment exist on a continuum and may overlap; they can occur online and face-to-face (both physically and verbally) and are never acceptable.

At Appleford School, all of our staff operate with an attitude of 'it could happen here', and will respond to all signs, reports and concerns of child-on-child sexual violence and sexual harassment, including those that have happened outside of the school or School premises, and/or online. Our school operates with a zero-tolerance approach to sexual violence and sexual harassment, making it clear that it should not be passed off as just 'banter'.

Our staff will challenge physical behaviour (potentially criminal in nature) such as grabbing bottoms, breasts and genitalia, pulling down trousers, flicking bras and lifting up skirts as dismissing or tolerating such behaviours risks normalising them. Whilst any report of sexual violence or sexual harassment should be taken seriously, staff at Appleford School are aware it is more likely girls will be the victims of sexual violence and sexual harassment and more likely it will be perpetrated by boys. Children with disabilities are also three times more likely to be abused than their peers. Ultimately, it is essential that all victims are reassured that they are being taken seriously and that they will be supported and kept safe.

Sexual violence: Refers to sexual offences under the Sexual Offences Act 2003, as described below:

- Rape: A person (A) commits an offence of rape if: he intentionally penetrates the vagina, anus or mouth of another person (B) with his penis, B does not consent to the penetration and A does not reasonably believe that B consents.
- Assault by Penetration: A person (A) commits an offence if: s/he intentionally penetrates the vagina or anus of another person (B) with a part of her/his body or anything else, the penetration is sexual, B does not consent to the penetration and A does not reasonably believe that B consents.
- Sexual Assault: A person (A) commits an offence of sexual assault if: s/he intentionally touches another person (B), the touching is sexual, B does not consent to the touching and A does not reasonably believe that B consents. (NOTE - Schools and Schools should be aware that sexual assault covers a very wide range of behaviour so a single act of kissing someone without consent or touching someone's bottom/breasts/genitalia without consent, can still constitute sexual assault).
- Causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent: A person (A) commits an offence if: s/he intentionally causes another person (B) to engage in an activity, the activity is sexual, B does not consent to engaging in the activity, and A does not reasonably believe that B consents. (NOTE – this could include forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party).
- Where consent is about having the freedom and capacity to choose. Consent to sexual activity may be given to one sort of sexual activity but not another, e.g. to vaginal but not anal sex or penetration with conditions, such as wearing a condom. Consent can be withdrawn at any time during sexual activity and each time activity occurs. Someone consents to vaginal, anal or oral penetration only if s/he agrees by choice to that penetration and has the freedom and capacity to make that choice. A child under the age of 13 can never consent to any sexual activity, and the age of consent is 16.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT: When referring to sexual harassment we mean 'unwanted conduct of a sexual nature' that can occur online and offline and both inside and outside of school. Sexual harassment is likely to violate a child's dignity, and/or make them feel intimidated, degraded or humiliated and/or create a hostile, offensive or sexualised environment. We make it clear that all forms of sexual violence and harassment are unacceptable and will not be tolerated. Whilst not intended to be an exhaustive list, sexual harassment can include:

- sexual comments, such as: telling sexual stories, making lewd comments, making sexual remarks about clothes and appearance and calling someone sexualised names;
- sexual "jokes" or taunting;
- physical behaviour, such as: deliberately brushing against someone, interfering with someone's clothes (this may cross a line into sexual violence) and displaying pictures, photos or drawings of a sexual nature; and
- online sexual harassment. This may be standalone, or part of a wider pattern of sexual harassment and/or sexual violence. It may include:

Appleford School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. It is our aim that all students fulfil their potential.

- consensual and non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and videos. As set out in UKCIS Sharing nudes and semi-nudes: advice for education settings working with children and young people (which provides detailed advice for schools and Schools) taking and sharing nude photographs of under 18s is a criminal offence;
- sharing of unwanted explicit content;
- upskirting (is a criminal offence);
- sexualised online bullying;
- unwanted sexual comments and messages, including, on social media;
- sexual exploitation; coercion and threats.

CHILDREN WITH FAMILY MEMBERS IN PRISON: Approximately 200,000 children in England and Wales have a parent sent to prison each year. These children are at risk of poor outcomes including poverty, stigma, isolation and poor mental health. The National Information Centre on Children of Offenders, NICCO provides information designed to support professionals working with offenders and their children, to help mitigate negative consequences for those children.

CHILDREN AND THE COURT SYSTEM: Appleford School recognises that children are sometimes required to give evidence in criminal courts, either for crimes committed against them or for crimes they have witnessed. There are two age appropriate guides to support children 5-11-year olds and 12-17 year olds. They explain each step of the process and support and special measures that are available. There are diagrams illustrating the courtroom structure and the use of video links is explained. Making child arrangements via the family courts following separation can be stressful and entrench conflict in families. We recognise this can be stressful for children. The Ministry of Justice has launched an online child arrangements information tool with clear and concise information on the dispute resolution service and this may be useful for some parents and carers.

CYBERCRIME: Cybercrime is criminal activity committed using computers and/or the internet. It is broadly categorised as either ‘cyber-enabled’ (crimes that can happen off-line but are enabled at scale and at speed on-line) or ‘cyber dependent’ (crimes that can be committed only by using a computer):

- Cyber dependent crimes include unauthorised access to computers, Denial of Service (attempts to make a computer, network or website unavailable by increasing traffic) and making or supplying malware.
- Our staff are aware that Children with particular skills and interest in computing and technology may inadvertently or deliberately stray into cyber-dependent crime.

We take advice to ensure that our security procedures for our IT infrastructure are effective and should staff have concerns about a child’s involvement with cybercrime, they will refer this to the DSL, who may contact the Cyber Choices Programme. We also ensure our systems meet the Cyber Security Standards – set out by the DfE.

HOMELESSNESS: Being homeless or being at risk of becoming homeless presents a real risk to a child’s welfare. Our designated safeguarding lead and deputy DSL are aware of contact details and referral routes into the Local Housing Authority so they can raise/progress concerns at the earliest opportunity. Staff are still alert to the signs that families of pupils may be at risk of homelessness include household debt, rent arrears, domestic abuse and anti-social behaviour, as well as the family being asked to leave a property. Whilst referrals and or discussion with the Local Housing Authority should be progressed as appropriate, this does not, and should not, replace a referral into children’s social care where a child has been harmed or is at risk of harm.

MODERN SLAVERY AND THE NATIONAL REFERRAL MECHANISM (NRM): Modern slavery encompasses human trafficking and slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour. Exploitation can take many forms, including: sexual exploitation, forced labour, slavery, servitude, forced criminality and the removal of organs. Further information on the signs that someone may be a victim of modern slavery, the support available to victims and how to refer them to the NRM is available in the Modern Slavery Statutory Guidance. Modern slavery: how to identify and support victims

Trafficking: Child trafficking involves moving children across or within national or international borders for the purposes of exploitation. Exploitation includes children being used for sex work, domestic work, restaurant/ sweatshop, drug dealing, shoplifting and benefit fraud. Where the School is made aware of a child is suspected of or actually being trafficked/exploited, including being in Private Fostering, the DSL will report our concerns to Children’s Social Care. The above list is not exhaustive and as new policy guidance and legislation develops within the remit of Safeguarding we will review and update our policy as appropriate and in line with the Local Safeguarding Children Partnership and local authority to ensure our school is a safe place to learn and work.

Preventing radicalisation: Children may be susceptible to radicalisation into terrorism. Similar to protecting children from other forms of harms and abuse, preventing our students from this risk is an essential part of Appleford School safeguarding approach:

- Extremism is the vocal or active opposition to our fundamental values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and the mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. This also includes calling for the death of members of the armed forces.
- Radicalisation is the process of legitimizing support for, or use of, terrorist violence.
- Terrorism is an action that endangers or causes serious violence to a person/people; causes serious damage to property; or seriously interferes or disrupts an electronic system. The use or threat must be designed to influence the government or to intimidate the public and is made for the purpose of advancing a political, religious or ideological cause.

Our staff are alert to changes in children's behaviour, which could indicate they may be in need of help or protection, and will act proportionately which may include the DSL/ DDSL making a Prevent referral.

HONOUR-BASED ABUSE (HBA) including Female Genital Mutilation and Forced Marriage: So-called 'honour-based' abuse (HBA) encompasses crimes which have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or the community, including Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), forced marriage, and practices such as breast ironing. All forms of so-called HBA are abuse (regardless of the motivation) and should be handled and escalated as such. If in any doubts staff should speak to the designated safeguarding lead. Professionals in all agencies, and individuals and groups in relevant communities, need to be alert to the possibility of a child being at risk of HBA, or already having suffered HBA.

Indicators of Honour-based abuse: Guidance on the warning signs that FGM or forced marriage may be about to take place, or may have already taken place, can be found on pages 38-41 of the Multi agency statutory guidance on FGM (pages 59-61 focus on the role of schools and Schools) and pages 13-14 of the Multi-agency guidelines: Handling case of forced marriage.

Actions if HBA is suspected: If staff have a concern regarding a child who may be at risk of HBV they should activate local safeguarding procedures, using national and local protocols for multiagency liaison with Police and Children's Services. In the social context of the school, it is normal to ask about a noticeable injury. The response to such an enquiry is generally light-hearted and detailed. So, most of all, concern should be increased when: the explanation given does not match the injury; the explanation uses words or phrases that do not match the vocabulary of the child (adults words); no explanation is forthcoming; the child (or the parent/carer) is secretive or evasive or the injury is accompanied by allegations of abuse or assault. We become concerned if the child or young person is reluctant to have parents/carers contacted; runs away or shows fear of going home; is aggressive towards themselves or others; flinches when approached or touched; is reluctant to undress to change clothing for sport; wears long sleeves during hot weather; is unnaturally compliant in the presence of parents/carers; has a fear of medical help or attention or admits to a punishment that appears excessive.

Mandatory reporting duty: Section 5B of the Female Genital Mutilation Act 2003 (as inserted by section 74 of the Serious Crime Act 2015) places a statutory duty upon teachers along with regulated health and social care professionals in England and Wales, to report to the Police where they discover (either through disclosure by the victim or visual evidence) that FGM appears to have been carried out on a girl under 18. Those failing to report such cases will face disciplinary sanctions. It will be rare for teachers to see visual evidence, and they should not be examining pupils, but the same definition of what is meant by "to discover that an act of FGM appears to have been carried out" is used for all professionals to whom this mandatory reporting duty applies. Teachers must personally report to the Police cases where they discover an act of FGM. Unless the teacher has a good reason not to, they should also still consider and discuss any such case with the school DSL and involve Children's Services as appropriate. The duty does not apply in relation to at risk or suspected cases (i.e. where the teacher does not discover that an act of FGM appears to have been carried out, either through disclosure or visual evidence) or in cases where the woman is 18 or over. In these cases, teachers should follow local safeguarding procedures. The Forced Marriage Unit has published multi-agency guidelines - pages 32-36 focus on the role of schools and Schools. Schools and staff can contact the Forced Marriage Unit for advice or information on 020 7008 0151 or email: fmu@fco.gov.uk.

FORCED MARRIAGE: Forcing a person into a marriage is a crime in England and Wales. A forced marriage is one entered into without the full and free consent of one or both parties and where violence, threats or any other form of coercion is used to cause a person to enter into a marriage. Since February 2023 it has been a crime to carry out any conduct whose purpose is to cause a child to marry before their eighteenth birthday, even if violence, threats or another form of coercion are not used. As with the existing forced marriage law, this applies to non-binding, unofficial 'marriages' as well as legal marriages. Staff will inform the DSL/ DDSL immediately if they suspect a child is at risk of forced marriage.

GANGS AND YOUTH VIOLENCE: We will endeavour to protect our children and young people from exposure to gang activity and exploitation by having robust attendance and behaviour policies and to act on relevant information or allegations. We will take all reports seriously and will share this information appropriately with other agencies to safeguard our pupils from harm.

YOUTH PRODUCED SEXUAL IMAGERY (SEXTING)- Please refer to our Child-on-child Abuse Policy.

The practice of children sharing images and videos via text message, email, social media or mobile messaging apps has become commonplace and the DfE provides searching screening and confiscation advice. The UK Council for Child Internet Safety (UKCCIS) Education Group has recently published Sharing nudes and semi-nudes: advice for education settings working with children and young people.

Online technology has given children the opportunity to produce and distribute sexual imagery in the form of photos and videos. Such imagery involving anyone under the age of 18 is illegal. Youth produced sexual imagery refers to both images and videos where;

- a person under the age of 18 creates and shares sexual imagery of themselves with a peer under the age of 18;
- a person under the age of 18 shares sexual imagery created by another person under the age of 18 with a peer under the age of 18 or an adult; a person under the age of 18 is in possession of sexual imagery created by another person under the age of 18.

All incidents of this nature should be treated as a safeguarding concern and in line with the guidance 'Sexting in schools and Schools: responding to incidents and safeguarding young people'. Sexual imagery of people under 18 can constitute child sexual abuse and should be responded to accordingly. If a member of staff learns of an incident involving youth produced sexual imagery they should follow the child protection procedures and refer to the DSL as soon as possible. The member of staff should confiscate the device involved and set it to flight mode or, if this is not possible, turn it off. Staff should not view, copy or print the youth produced sexual imagery. Parents should be informed, unless there is reason to believe that this would put the child at risk of harm. A referral should be made to Children's Social Care or the Police as appropriate. Immediate referral should be made to Children's Social Care/police if;

- the incident involves an adult, the imagery involves sexual acts; the imagery involves anyone aged 12 or under;
- there is good reason to believe that a young person has been coerced, blackmailed or groomed or if there are concerns about their capacity to consent (for example, owing to special education needs);
- what you know about the imagery suggests the content depicts sexual acts which are unusual for the child's development stage or are violent;
- there is reason to believe a child is at immediate risk of harm owing to the sharing of the imagery, for example the child is presenting as suicidal or self-harming – where an immediate risk of significant harm or injury is suspected, the police must be called on 999.

If none of the above applies then the DSL, in consultation with the Co-Principals, will consider if;

- There is a significant age difference between the sender/receiver;
- there is any coercion or encouragement beyond the sender/receiver;
- the imagery was shared and received with the knowledge of the child in the imagery;
- the child is more vulnerable than usual i.e. at risk; there is a significant impact on the children involved;
- the image is of a severe or extreme nature; the child involved understands consent;
- the situation is isolated or if the image been more widely distributed; there are other circumstances relating to either the sender or recipient that may add cause for concern i.e. difficult home circumstances;
- the children have been involved in incidents relating to youth produced imagery before.

If any of these circumstances are present the situation will be escalated according to our child protection procedures, including reporting to the police or children's social care. Otherwise, the situation will be managed within the school. The DSL will record all incidents of youth produced sexual imagery, including both the actions taken, actions not taken, reasons for doing so and the resolution in line with safeguarding recording procedures. This guidance reflects the UKCCIS Guidance.

Removal of sexual images/videos: If the incident involves sexual images or videos that have been circulated online, the victim can be supported to get the images removed through the Internet Watch Foundation (IWF). The IWF will make an assessment of whether the image is illegal in line with UK Law. If the image is assessed to be illegal, it will be removed and added to the IWF's Image Hash list.

CHILD ABDUCTION AND COMMUNITY SAFETY INCIDENTS: Child abduction is the unauthorised removal or retention of a minor from a parent or anyone with legal responsibility for the child. Child abduction can be committed by parents or other family members; by people known but not related to the victim (such as neighbours, friends and acquaintances); and by strangers. Other community safety incidents in the vicinity of a school can raise concerns amongst children and parents, for example, people loitering nearby or unknown adults engaging children in conversation. As children get older and are granted more independence (for example, as they start walking to school on their own) it is important they are given practical advice on keeping themselves safe. We provide outdoor safety lessons/assemblies to our pupils to help combat this risk, focusing on building children's confidence and abilities rather than simply warning them about all strangers. For further information, see: www.actionagainstabduction.org and www.clevernevergoes.org.

Safeguarding International Pupils: Appleford School is aware of the safeguarding implications regarding pupils from overseas who have obtained a Tier 4 Child Pupil Visa. Specifically pertinent are the requirements that:

- Policies and procedures are in place to ensure the safety, wellbeing and protection from exploitation of sponsored pupils;
- All teaching and boarding sites meet legally required standards;
- All staff who have access to pupils have a current DBS

This policy therefore covers all pupils at the school, including those who may be here temporarily on exchange visits. The school recognises the particular vulnerabilities of children living in a different country/culture, with possible language barriers and no family close by and provides relevant support where necessary.

TEENAGE RELATIONSHIP ABUSE: Relationship abuse can take place at any age and describes unacceptable behaviour between two people who are in a relationship. Research has shown that teenagers do not always understand what may constitute abusive and controlling behaviours, e.g. checking someone's 'phone, telling them what to wear, who they can/can't see or speak to or coercing them to engage in activities they are not comfortable with. The government campaign "disrespect nobody" provides other examples of abusive behaviour within a relationship. This lack of understanding can lead to these abusive behaviours feeling 'normal' and therefore left unchallenged, as they are not recognised as being abusive.

In response to these research findings, the school will provide education to help prevent teenagers from becoming victims and perpetrators of abusive relationships, by encouraging them to rethink their views of violence, abuse and controlling behaviours, and understand what consent means within their relationships. This will form part of the school's curriculum content in respect of Relationship Education and in developing this curriculum the school will follow the RSHE guidance (July 2025): Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education guidance If the school has concerns about a child in respect of relationship abuse, it will report those concerns in line with procedures to the appropriate authorities as a safeguarding concern, a crime or both.

SEXISM AND STEREOTYPING: The new RSHE Guidance (July 2025) Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education guidance outlines the importance of developing positive concepts and masculinity and femininity.

Both within and beyond the classroom, staff should be conscious of everyday sexism, misogyny, homophobia and stereotypes, and should take action to build a culture where prejudice is identified and tackled. Staff have an important role in modelling positive behaviour and avoiding language that might perpetuate harmful stereotypes. Pupils should understand the importance of challenging harmful beliefs and attitudes and should understand the links between sexism and misogyny and violence against women and girls. Where misogynistic ideas are expressed at school, staff should challenge the ideas, rather than the person expressing them.

Pupils may be exposed to online content which normalises harmful or violent sexual behaviours, which might include sexist and misogynistic influencers who normalise sexual harassment and abuse. Young people may be more vulnerable to this content when they have low self-esteem, are being bullied, or have other challenges in their lives. Teachers should encourage pupils to consider how this content may be harmful to both men and women, while avoiding stigmatising or perpetuating harmful stereotypes about boys, and avoiding directly signposting to specific content and content producers.

PARENTAL MENTAL HEALTH: The term 'mental ill health' is used to cover a wide range of conditions, from eating disorders, mild depression and anxiety to psychotic illnesses such as schizophrenia or bipolar disorder. Parental mental illness does not necessarily have an adverse impact on a child's developmental needs, but it is essential to always assess its implications for each child in the family. It is essential that the diagnosis of a parent's/carer's mental health is not seen as defining the level of risk. Similarly, the absence of a diagnosis does not equate to there being little or no risk. For children, the impact of poor parental mental health can include:

- The parent's/carer's needs or illnesses taking precedence over the child's needs.

Appleford School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. It is our aim that all students fulfil their potential.

- The child's physical and emotional needs being neglected.
- The child acting as a young carer for a parent or a sibling.
- The child having restricted social and recreational activities.
- The child finding it difficult to concentrate, potentially having an impact on educational achievement.
- The child missing school regularly as (s)he is being kept home as a companion for a parent/carer.
- The child adopting paranoid or suspicious behaviour as they believe their parent's delusions.
- Witnessing self-harming behaviour and suicide attempts (including attempts that involve the child)
- Obsessional compulsive behaviours involving the child.

If staff become aware of any of the above indicators, or others that suggest a child is suffering due to parental mental health, the information will be shared with the DSL to consider a referral to children's social care.

PARENTAL SUBSTANCE MISUSE: Substance misuse applies to the misuse of alcohol as well as 'problem drug use', defined by the Advisory Council on the Misuse of Drugs as drug use which has: 'serious negative consequences of a physical, psychological, social and interpersonal, financial or legal nature for users and those around them.

Parental substance misuse of drugs or alcohol becomes relevant to child protection when substance misuse and personal circumstances indicate that their parenting capacity is likely to be seriously impaired or that undue caring responsibilities are likely to be falling on a child in the family. For children, the impact of parental substance misuse can include:

- Inadequate food, heat and clothing for children (family finances used to fund adult's dependency)
- Lack of engagement or interest from parents in their development, education or wellbeing
- Behavioural difficulties- inappropriate display of sexual and/or aggressive behaviour
- Bullying (including due to poor physical appearance)
- Isolation – finding it hard to socialise, make friends or invite them home
- Tiredness or lack of concentration
- Child talking of or bringing into school drugs or related paraphernalia
- Injuries /accidents (due to inadequate adult supervision)
- Taking on a caring role
- Continued poor academic performance including difficulties completing homework on time
- Poor attendance or late arrival.

These behaviours themselves do not indicate that a child's parent is misusing substances but should be considered as indicators that this may be the case. If staff believe that a child is living with parental substance misuse, this will be reported to the designated safeguarding lead for referral to children's social care to be considered.

APPENDIX 5 – MAIN RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DSL, DEPUTY DSL, PROPRIETOR AND THE HEADMASTER

The proprietor has ensured an appropriate senior member of staff, from the school or School leadership team, is appointed to the role of DSL. The designated safeguarding lead takes lead responsibility for safeguarding and child protection (including online safety and understanding the filtering and monitoring systems and processes in place). This is explicit in the role holder's job description. They promote the welfare of children and young people and follow school policies and the staff code of conduct. The DSL has the appropriate status and authority within the school or School to carry out the duties of the post. The role of the DSL carries a significant level of responsibility, and it is ensured that they are given the additional time, funding, training, resources and support they need to carry out the role effectively. Their additional responsibilities include providing advice and support to other staff on child welfare, safeguarding and child protection matters, taking part in strategy discussions and inter-agency meetings such as those with the Local Authority and the police and/or supporting other staff to do so, and contributing to the assessment of children. Some safeguarding activities may be delegated to deputies, but the DSL will retain ultimate lead responsibility for safeguarding and child protection.

D/DSL: It is a matter for individual schools and Schools as to whether they choose to have one or more deputy designated safeguarding leads. Any deputies should be trained to the same standard as the designated safeguarding lead and the role should be explicit in their job description. Whilst the activities of the designated safeguarding lead can be delegated to appropriately trained deputies, the ultimate lead responsibility for child protection, as set out above, remains with the designated safeguarding lead, this lead responsibility should not be delegated.

Availability: During term time, our DSL or D/DSL should always be available (during school or School hours) for staff in the school to discuss any safeguarding concerns. The school will arrange adequate and appropriate cover arrangements for any out of hours/out of term activities.

Manage referrals:

The DSL will refer cases:

- of suspected abuse and neglect to the local authority children's social care as required and support staff who make referrals to local authority children's social care
- to the Channel programme where there is a radicalisation concern as required and support staff who make referrals to the Channel programme
- where a person is dismissed or left due to risk/harm to a child to the Disclosure and Barring Service as required, and
- where a crime may have been committed to the Police as required. NPCC - When to call the police should help understand when to consider calling the police and what to expect when working with the police.

They will have oversight of online safety and of cyber security information.

Managing concerns about children

- Ensure effective reporting mechanisms for staff, other adults (including parents) and children.
- Ensure mechanisms for regular review of reporting mechanisms.
- Provide feedback to the person/s who shared the concern.
- Manage a well evidenced system for monitoring children of concern.

Working with staff and others:

The DSL will:

- act as a source of support, advice and expertise for all staff
- act as a point of contact with the safeguarding partners
- inform the headmaster of safeguarding issues, especially ongoing enquiries under section 47 of the Children Act 1989 and police investigations, and the requirement for children to have an Appropriate Adult. Further information can be found in the Statutory guidance - PACE Code C 2019.
- as required, liaise with the "case manager" (as per Part Four of KCSiE 2025) and the local authority designated officer(s) (LADO) for child protection concerns in cases which concern a staff member;
- liaise with staff (especially teachers, pastoral support staff, school nurses, IT technicians, the mental health lead and special educational needs co-ordinators (SENCOs), or the named person with oversight for SEND) on matters of safety and safeguarding and welfare (including online and digital safety) and when deciding whether to make a referral by liaising with relevant agencies so that children's needs are considered holistically
- liaise with the senior mental health lead and, where available, the mental health support team, where safeguarding concerns are linked to mental health.
- promote supportive engagement with parents and/or carers in safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, including where families may be facing challenging circumstances.
- ensuring the school's website displays and makes available all safeguarding information required by the DFE;
- report to the Proprietor on all aspects of safeguarding, including child-on-child incidents and online safety;
- work with the Proprietor to ensure the child protection policy is reviewed annually (as a minimum) and the procedures and implementation are updated and reviewed regularly;
- work with the headmaster and relevant strategic leads, taking lead responsibility for promoting educational outcomes by knowing the welfare, safeguarding and child protection issues that children in need are experiencing, or have experienced, and identifying the impact that these issues might be having on children's attendance, engagement and achievement at our school. This includes:
 - o knowing who the school's cohort of children who have or have had a social worker are, understanding their academic progress and attainment, and maintaining a culture of high aspirations for this cohort, and
 - o supporting teaching staff to provide additional academic support or reasonable adjustments to help children who have or have had a social worker reach their potential, recognising that even when statutory social care intervention has ended, there is still a lasting impact on children's educational outcomes.

Information sharing and managing the child protection file: The DSL ensures that child protection files are kept up to date and that information is kept confidential and stored securely. Make sure records include:

- a clear and comprehensive summary of the concern
- details of how the concern was followed up and resolved

Appleford School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. It is our aim that all students fulfil their potential.

- a note of any action taken, decisions reached and the outcome.

They should ensure the file is only accessed by those who need to see it and where the file or content within is shared, this happens in line with information sharing advice set out in Parts one and two of KCSIE (2025).

We recognise that in some settings there may be a different strategic lead for promoting the educational outcomes of children who have or have had a social worker, particularly in larger schools or Schools. Where this is the case, it is important that the DSL works closely with the lead to provide strategic oversight for the outcomes of these children and young people. Where children leave the school (including in year transfers) the DSL ensures that their child protection file is transferred to the new school or School as soon as possible, and within 5 days for an in-year transfer or within the first 5 days of the start of a new term. This is transferred separately from the main pupil file, ensuring secure transit, and confirmation of receipt should be obtained. Receiving schools and Schools should ensure key staff such as designated safeguarding leads and special educational needs coordinators (SENCOs) or the named person with oversight for SEND in Schools, are aware as required. In addition to the child protection file, the DSL will also consider if it would be appropriate to share any additional information with the new school or School in advance of a child leaving to help them put in place the right support to safeguard this child. Lack of information about their circumstances can impact on the child's safety, welfare and educational outcomes.

Lack of information about their circumstances can impact on the child's safety, welfare and educational outcomes. In addition to the child protection file, the designated safeguarding lead should also consider if it would be appropriate to share any additional information with the new school or School in advance of a child leaving to help them put in place the right support to safeguard this child and to help the child thrive in the school or School. For example, information that would allow the new school or School to continue supporting children who have had a social worker and been victims of abuse and have that support in place for when the child arrives.

Raising awareness: The DSL will

- ensure each member of staff has access to, and understands, our school's child protection policy and procedures, especially new and part-time staff
- ensure the school's child protection policy is reviewed annually and the procedures and implementation are updated and reviewed regularly, and work with the proprietor regarding this
- ensure the child protection policy is available publicly and parents know that referrals about suspected abuse or neglect may be made and the role of our school in this
- link with the safeguarding partner arrangements to make sure staff are aware of any training opportunities and the latest local policies on local safeguarding arrangements, and
- help promote educational outcomes by sharing information about welfare, safeguarding and child protection issues that children who have or have had a social worker are experiencing with teachers and school leadership staff.

Training, knowledge and skills: The DSL and D/DSL undergoes training every 2 years to provide them with the knowledge and skills required to carry out the role and meet the expectations set out in KCSIE (2025), including those outlined in the 'Training, knowledge and skills' section of Annex C. This training should be updated at least every two years. They also undertake along with Prevent awareness training. Best training will provide designated safeguarding leads with a good understanding of their own role, how to identify, understand and respond to specific needs that can increase the vulnerability of children, as well as specific harms that can put children at risk, and the processes, procedures and responsibilities of other agencies, particularly local authority children's social care, so they:

- understand the assessment process for providing early help and statutory intervention, including local criteria for action and local authority children's social care referral arrangements.
- have a working knowledge of how local authorities conduct a child protection case conference and a child protection review conference and be able to attend and contribute to these effectively when required to do so.
- understand the importance of the role the designated safeguarding lead has in providing information and support to local authority children social care in order to safeguard and promote the welfare of children.
- understand the lasting impact that adversity and trauma can have, including on children's behaviour, mental health and wellbeing, and what is needed in responding to this in promoting educational outcomes.
- are alert to the specific needs of children in need, those with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND), those with relevant health conditions and young carers.
- understand the importance of information sharing, both within the school and School, and with the safeguarding partners, other agencies, organisations and practitioners.

- understand and support the school or School with regards to the requirements of the Prevent duty and are able to provide advice and support to staff on protecting children from the risk of radicalisation.
- are able to understand the unique risks associated with online safety and be confident that they have the relevant knowledge and up to date capability required to keep children safe whilst they are online at school or School.
- can recognise the additional risks that children with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) face online, for example, from bullying, grooming and radicalisation and are confident they have the capability to support children with SEND to stay safe online.
- obtain access to resources and attend any relevant or refresher training courses.
- encourage a culture of listening to children and taking account of their wishes and feelings, among all staff, and in any measures the school or School may put in place to protect them.
- Refresh knowledge and skills at regular intervals and at least annually. E.g. best practice training will include harmful sexualised behaviour, unique risk of online safety, and understand the assessment process for providing early help and statutory intervention, including local criteria for action and local authority children's social care referral arrangements;

In addition to the formal training set out above, their knowledge and skills should be refreshed (this might be via e-bulletins, meeting other designated safeguarding leads, or simply taking time to read and digest safeguarding developments) at regular intervals, as required, and at least annually, to allow them to understand and keep up with any developments relevant to their role.

Providing support to staff: Training should support the designated safeguarding lead in developing expertise, so they can support and advise staff and help them feel confident on welfare, safeguarding and child protection matters including:

- ensuring staff are supported during the referrals processes
- supporting staff to consider how safeguarding, welfare and educational outcomes are linked, including to inform the provision of academic and pastoral support.

Understanding the views of children: It is important that all children feel heard and understood. Therefore, DSL and D/DSL are supported in developing knowledge and skills to:

- encourage a culture of listening to children and taking account of their wishes and feelings, among all staff, and in any measures the school or School may put in place to protect them.
- understand the difficulties that children may have in approaching staff about their circumstances and consider how to build trusted relationships which facilitate communication.

Holding and sharing information: The critical importance of holding, using and sharing information effectively is set out in Parts 1, 2 and 5 of KCSIE (2025), and therefore The DSL is equipped to:

- understand the importance of information sharing, both within the school and School, and with other schools and Schools on transfer including in-year and between primary and secondary education, and with the safeguarding partners, other agencies, organisations and practitioners.
- understand relevant data protection legislation and regulations, especially the Data Protection Act 2018 and the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR).
- be able to keep detailed, accurate, secure written records of all concerns, discussions and decisions made including the rationale for those decisions, and understand the purpose of this exercise. This includes instances where referrals were or were not made to another agency such as LA children's social care or the Prevent program etc.

Other areas of responsibility

- The DSL will be required to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and young people and follow school policies and the staff code of conduct.
- During term time, the DSL should always be available during school hours for staff in the school to discuss any safeguarding concerns. Ideally this will be in person but can also be via phone or video call in exceptional circumstances.

Please note that this list of duties is illustrative of the general nature and level of responsibility of the role. It is not a comprehensive list of all tasks the DSL will carry out.

- Ensure that allegations or concerns against staff are dealt with in accordance with guidance from Department for Education (DfE) and the Local Safeguarding Children Partnership (LSCP) procedures.
- Determine if a concern about a member of staff is a 'low level concern' or an allegation.

The Headmaster and DSL will ensure that the safeguarding and child protection policy and procedures adopted by the Proprietor are implemented and followed by all staff and:

- allocate sufficient time and resources to enable the DSL and Deputy DSL to carry out their roles effectively, including the assessment of pupils and attendance at strategy discussions and other necessary meetings;
- that all staff feel able to raise concerns about poor or unsafe practice and that such concerns are handled sensitively;
- that reporting wrongdoing by staff in the workplace that does not involve safeguarding and welfare of pupils is dealt with in accordance with the school's Whistleblowing procedures;
- provide immunity from retribution or disciplinary action against staff in the event of them 'whistleblowing' in good faith; ensure that pupil's safety and welfare are addressed through the curriculum and be able to understand safer recruitment procedures and processes and deal with allegations against members of staff and volunteers.

This includes specific responsibilities for ensuring that all who are employed, supply services or volunteer at the school, are informed of the content of this policy and any

- liaise with the senior leadership of the school, the DSL and Deputy DSL, holding them to account on matters relating to safeguarding and also liaise with the LSCP and LADO as and when required by this policy;

 - monitor the policy, procedures and the efficiency with which they are implemented;
 - ensure that there are clear job specifications for the DSL and Deputy DSL who have the knowledge, skills and understanding necessary to keep safe children who are looked after by a local authority;
 - find out, on each visit to the school, if the policy is known in practice by talking to a number of staff and volunteers right across the school to see if they would know who to go to in the case of a suspected abuse and what they would do in terms of comments they might make to the child;

APPENDIX 6 – WHERE A YOUNG PERSON DISCLOSES ABUSE OR NEGLECT, THE FOLLOWING SEQUENCE OF EVENTS SHOULD BE ADHERED TO

The following safeguarding procedures apply where you become aware a member of staff/volunteer has, or a child discloses to you that an adult has behaved in a way that has, or may have harmed a child; possibly committed a criminal offence against or related to a child or behaved towards a child or children in a way that indicates they may pose a risk of harm to a child.

Create a safe environment by offering the child a private and safe place if possible. Stay calm and reassure the child and stress that he/she is not to blame. Tell the child that you know how difficult it must have been to confide in you.

Listen to what the child has to say and take them seriously; stay calm and reassure the child but advise that you cannot promise confidentiality or to keep a secret (as this may not ultimately be in the child's best interest). Do not make promises you cannot keep. If there is a requirement for immediate medical intervention, assistance should be called for. A suggested form of words that may help when talking to children and which will likely need to be simplified for some of our pupils are as follows: "I will keep our conversation confidential and agree with you what information I can share, unless you tell me something that will affect your personal safety or that is illegal, but I will tell you if I am going to pass information on and who to." Tell the child what you are going to do next after the disclosure.

When talking to the child, do not interview the child and keep questions to a minimum. Do not display shock or disbelief. Encourage the child to use his/ her words and do not ask leading questions, interrupt their dialogue, or make assumptions which might give particular answers. Do not repeat the disclosure over and over or ask the child to repeat it other than to clarify what is being said. Seek consent from the child to share any information disclosed but should consent not be given, an explanation can be given as to why the DSL must be told. When the child has finished speaking, do not leave the child alone, but speak to someone who can help keep the child safe, that person should not speak to the child about the situation, but should offer comfort and reassurance that the right steps have been taken.

Record in detail the circumstances and timings of the disclosure including the nature and extent of any injuries, explanations given by the child (as much as possible in the child's own words) and the action taken (which may be used in any subsequent court proceedings), within 24 hours of the disclosure. Record in writing the child's name, address and date of birth along with the child's behaviour and emotional state, who else was present at the time of the disclosure. Sign (with time and date) all notes made and give them to the DSL. Call for immediate assistance from the DSL or deputy DSL or follow the procedures for allegations against staff, volunteers, and Proprietors. The DSL (or other responsible person within the scope of this policy) will then deal with the matter. The official school safeguarding form should also be completed by the person who receives the allegation and forwarded to the DSL.

Do not take responsibility for investigating the allegation yourself, as investigation is the sole statutory responsibility of Children's Services and/or the police. Reassure the child that the matter will be dealt with. Do not approach or inform the alleged abuser. Immediately inform the DSL so any required action can be taken to protect the pupil. The DSL will consider the information and decide on the next steps. In any case, only inform necessary people and do not speak in any way about the fact or the content of the disclosure. Every complaint or suspicion of abuse from within or outside the School will be taken seriously and action taken in accordance with this policy.

Never take photographs of injuries or examine marks and injuries solely to assess whether they may have been caused by abuse or investigate or probe, aiming to prove or disprove possible abuse. Do not assume that someone else will take the necessary action. Do not speculate or accuse anybody, confront another person (adult or child) allegedly involved, offer opinions about what is being said or about people allegedly involved or forget to record what you have been told. Never fail to pass on the information onto the correct person or ask a child to sign a written copy of the disclosure or a 'statement'.
